Thank you. I needed to read that more than once. Probly will again. Since he passed, I've tried to fill the emptiness with a wife who left me, dogs, goats, a cat, work... Nothing has helped as much as loving memories.

“ To the family of Clifford and specically Kimberly,I am truly sorry and sadden to hear about your dad. I enjoyed our last conversation with your Dad that took place for 3 hours at a local store. After that conversation I walked away knowing your dad was a very upstanding, and truly a wonderful person. He expressed happy family times in his chilhood house, his Navy days,traveling for work, florida, brothers and his family. He talked about when his kids were born and how he wanted to do everything right and happy days with his wife and kids. He talked about the day his Dad purchased the house and how he came home from the Seventh grade thinking his dad won the Lottery because of the size of the home. I didn't need to know your dad for years just a simple few conversations and I walked away knowing he was a wonderful person. I am truly sadden and I just wanted to express that he was a real likeable person. God Bless you all. Karen Tomicic###imported-begin##karen Tomicic###imported-end##

*Dad really was a good man. I'm really grateful for your fond words Karen. Really makes me feel the love in the world. Glad you had the opportunity to have those conversations. Its weird how some stories don't get told to some people. Your sharing my Dad's story is awesome, especially since its one I never heard before reading this. :-)
Thanks for everything Dad!...
Love Cliff*
