

Hector Cadiz

December 4, 2023

Hector Cadiz was a beloved father, husband, uncle, brother and friend. To know him was to love him. Hector lived and worked in Hartford, Connecticut near his sister, nieces, nephews and brothers. Hector worked as a popular neighborhood barber for many years and if you sat in his chair, you would know of the hysterical stories he would tell. He loved to laugh and make others happy.

Hector was a lover of life and of God. He served the church faithfully for many years, driving the church van helping to pick up his fellow brothers and sisters. If Hector was not on the farm planting seeds, fellowshiping with his brothers, or watching old westerns, he could be found cleaning the church. On the weekends, Hector would often have visits with his daughter, Leeann Cadiz-Crispino and son-in-law, Robert Crispino. They enjoyed going out to eat at Max Fish in Glastonbury or having Chicken Parmesan sandwiches at Cheesecake Factory. They would often end their visits with a trip to Dunkin Donuts for coffee, his favorite. A lover of nature, Hector enjoyed farming and fishing. During certain seasons, he was known to give crates of home grown vegetables to his friends, neighbors and family members. Hector will be missed. His smile and presence would light up every room he walked into. Everyone was blessed by his kind and generous spirit.

Hector is survived by his daughter, Leeann Cadiz-Crispino, son-in-law Robert Crispino, and wife Illeana Soto-Cadiz. Hector also leaves behind his siblings Haydee, Elba, Carmen, David, Jesus Manuel, Felix Oscar, Jorge, Albert and Deogracio.

The family will greet friends and family from 9-11 am Tuesday, a service will follow at 11 am all at the Molloy Funeral Home, 906 Farmington Ave. West Hartford. Burial will follow in Oak Grove Cemetery, 426 Bay St. Springfield, MA.

“ One weekend, Hector came to NYC via bus from Hartford to go to the Madam Tussauds Wax Museum with me. We decided to take a bunch of silly pics with our favorite politicians and celebrities. Upon seeing Marilyn Monroe, Hector’s eyes widened and he said, Wow. After pleading with him to take a picture with her he said, “No no God wouldn’t like that”. Then he proceeded to take a pic praying for her. Lol
