“ Joan was truly a wonderful and special woman. Our mother and father were so happy when she came into Uncle Charlie's life. She so quickly became a member of our extended family. Her warm smile and gentle manner will never be forgotten. Stan and I send our sincere condolences to Chuck, Marcia and Laura. We are so very sorry we did not learn of her passing until after the funeral as we would certainly have been in attendance.

Love, Maryellen

“ When Aunt Joan came in a room, all the dogs tail-wagged, all the cats purred and all the people smiled. They smiled in Litchfield, at St. Joseph’s College, in hospitals around Connecticut and at Joan’s last job at Annie Fisher school where she was a devoted school nurse who would share stories about the students as though each was her own loved child. For us eight Kennedy kids nothing would make us run to the door faster, or make the dog go more insane with happiness, than Aunt Joan’s arrival. We didn’t recognize it at the time, but she was in large part our Santa, Easter Bunny and birthday benefactor all rolled into one and her constant presence kept our mom sane, which couldn’t have been a small task for a mom raising that many kids solo. I remember us kids as teens worrying when we realized Joan hadn’t married and that she might miss out on having a family considering the joy she gave ours. We were all so excited when she met and married Charlie, became Joan Drury and was able to share herself with Chuck, Marcia, Laura and their wonderful families. It was the best thing that happened to her. For us kids, it made 42 Brunswick Ave an always warm and welcoming place whether for Christmases, birthdays or just gatherings with lots of laughter with Charlie and Joan at the center and then dear Joan carrying on the tradition.

“ Ever since I can remember, my Aunt Joan was a special person in our lives. Never a birthday went by that wasn't remembered by a card, arriving on the day of the birthday, with a few dollars of spending money in it for her seven nephews and niece. So many wonderful summers spent on Cape Cod with Aunt John being our guide and benefactress. Introducing us to the Drury family, taking such wonderful care of of her beloved husband Charlie and then our mother Ellen as the two of them lived together until my Mom's passing. Always happy, always glad to see us. always chin up in the face of years of rehab from an injured leg. Valedictorian of her class in high school and a St Joseph College nurse. Truly a remarkable woman.

God bless you Aunt Joan. Rest in peace. I can only imagine the wonderful reunion that's going on with all of the Burkes in Heaven.
