

Josephine Notarangelo

July 2, 1920 - January 7, 2013

Josephine Notarangelo, 92, of West Hartford, died on Monday (January 7, 2013) at St. Mary Home. She was born in Springfield, MA, to Pasquale and Carmella Notarangelo. She was a precocious child. At the age of 9 she could design, make patterns and sew her own clothes. Also at the age of 9 she was an accomplished chef, making homemade bread and roasting a turkey. Josephine was a very bright student. In elementary school she was advanced two grades and the family rejected a third advancement due to her young age. She attending Mt. St. Joseph Academy, where she completed 2 years of course work in only one year. She graduated with a straight A average. Following graduation she began work as a second and third grade teacher in Meriden and Newington. Josephine so loved being an educator that she would volunteer her time teaching the blind. She enjoyed art, working with oils, clothing, and doing rubbings. In a local art show her oil painting won an award. There was no end to her talent. She is survived by her sister Maria Notar of West Hartford. Funeral services were held privately. Molloy Funeral Home had care of arrangements.
