

Susan Todd Mullis

February 25, 2020

On February 25, 2020, Susan Todd Mullis left this Earth after fighting a long battle of illnesses.

She is survived by her husband Bradford King, his son Marcus, and his fiancée Dorothy, her sister Jane Briner, her daughters Allison and Leslie, and her brother David, his sons Jessie, his wife Terenia, son Tavin, and Jacob, his wife Jackie, daughter Samantha and son Lucas.

She soothed mind and souls for decades by playing a wide range of music out on the air from WWUH, where she also served as Program Director.

Born in Ridgewood, NJ, she grew up in Glen Rock, NJ. She graduated from Bridgeport U. with a degree in Performing Arts – Voice. She then returned to college and received a degree in Nursing from Columbia U. in NYC. For over 4 decades she was a fierce advocate for her patients as a visiting nurse.

She excelled in life, touched so many and left them the better for knowing her. She will be greatly missed.

Calling hours will be at Molloy Funeral Home, 906 Farmington Ave, West Hartford, CT 06119 (860-232-1322), on Saturday, February 29, with Calling Hours from 1-3 and Sharing Memories from 3-4pm. Reception to follow.

In lieu of flowers Susan has requested donations to The Randolph School in Wappingers Falls, NY www.randolphschool.org

“ Susan was an continual supporter of my music on her show and Ill never forget the time a famous US based ambient musician Steve Roach came to perform in west Hartford. She called and invited me over her home the night before the performance to meet him(a gift in and of itself). Her kindness, warmth and love of music and people in general was special. Tho I left the New England area I will never forget Susan's goodwill. RIP.

“ I used to greet Susan on Sunday mornings at Bagels East on Farmington Avenue. Then she'd head off to WWUH 91.3 and play some wonderful, ambient Brian Eno music...
