

Todd McCullough

February 24, 2005

McCullough, Todd. Attorney Todd A. McCullough, February 24, 2005, at the age of 50. Todd lived his life in an exceptional manner, particularly these past two years as he struggled with cancer, an extraordinary journey - arduous, oftentimes lonely and fraught with unknowns. Todd never faltered in his belief in his life, was ever ready with a humorous quip and remained his calm and patient self throughout. He touched many lives, enriching each of them in special ways. His remarkable courage and strength inspired and encouraged those he met in a community often inhabited by heartbreak. Todd is survived by his wife of twenty-three years, Margaret M. Wittig, a breast cancer survivor and constant partner in his struggle with cancer and his extraordinarily joyful and active life. Margaret extends her deepest appreciation to Dr. Susan Rabinow and Mary Ann Albrecht, R.N. of St. Francis Cancer Center and Dr. John Papandrea of St. Francis Hospital. In addition to his wife, Todd is survived by his mother, Mary McCullough of Huntington, NY, his wife's family, mother-in-law, Mary K. Wittig of Milwaukee, WI, aunt, Virginia K. Reinhart and family of Milwaukee, Connie Wittig of Chicago, Rick Hensch, John Wittig Susie, Ann Wittig Pesch John of Milwaukee, Joan Wittig of New York City, Jim Wittig of Boulder, Lynne Wittig Kern Mark of Virginia Beach, and ten nieces and nephews. He is also survived by various cousins. Todd was predeceased by his father, John McCullough, his father-in-law, Attorney John A. Wittig and his sister-in-law Mary Wittig Hensch. A private service will be held in Milwaukee, Wisconsin. In lieu of flowers donations may be sent to the

Massachusetts Breast Cancer Coalition MBCC 1419 Hancock Street Suite

“ Dear Margaret,
The positive attitude you both exhibited had me forgetting that he was ill so his passing took me by surprise. Having the privilege to know you & Todd these many years has been a pleasure. Your life together was indeed full...your annual camping trip in all kinds of weather, your Christmas toilet seat that began a blizzard of fun, your adventures in Hawaii, your little Miata, your kayaks, your own long and "very short" hair journey, your annual trips to family, the state fair, going to see your favorite band... your total enjoyment of each other always. May the gift of finding True Love comfort you.##imported-begin##Tina Oswald##imported-end##

“ I was Todd's pottery teacher at Canton Clay Works. We are all so saddened by his passing. In the all too brief time he was with us, he gave the class his warm friendly smile and boundless enthusiasm for working with clay. He was one of those people that you like immediately! His bowls are safely packed away, and when you feel like it get in touch with me as to what you'd like us to do with them. Perhaps you might want to come out to the studio and glaze his pieces with me, or we could mail them to you - We send our best to you.##imported-begin##Nancy Magnusson##imported-end##

“ I was surprised and saddened to hear of Todd's passing. I worked with him briefly at Chubb, right around the time he was diagnosed. A couple of memories of Todd stand out in my mind -- first, what a dapper dresser he was! He wore the best colors, the best combinations and based on that alone I wanted to get to know him. Then, through Jennifer, I came to hear about his love affair with Margaret, and again I thought this was a person I wanted to know! I never did get a chance to know him well, but his wit and his sparkle will be a memory I carry. I hope he has transformed into a star and is twinkling upon us now.##imported-begin##Martha Shaw##imported-end##

“ Dear Margaret, Dave and I are so deeply saddened by the death of Todd. We saw him at the Cancer Center not that long ago, and he was so up, as always, and had that beautiful smile that just lit up his face. He certainly showed my husband how to fight cancer, and was an inspiraton to all he met. Margaret, you were always there by his side, helping him to get through each day. You will miss him, as will everyone he touched. He is at peace now, where suffering is no more, and another angel is up there praying for all of us. Todd's obit was beautiful...very fitting. God bless and know our thoughts and prayers are with you and your family.##imported-begin##Dave & Jean Hudon##imported-end##
